Balfour Foundation Awards $650,000 Grant To Roxbury Community College

On January 9th, Roxbury Community College's president and CEO, Dr. Grace Carolyn Brown, announced that Fleet Investment Services, trustee of the L.G. Balfour Foundation, has awarded a major gift of $650,000 to Roxbury Community College.

The Balfour Foundation grant, the largest private gift awarded to the RCC in its 20-year history, will be used for a comprehensive five-year academic program, improved student advising, and a renewed faculty department program.

"We are extremely grateful to the Balfour Foundation for this generous grant and the tremendous opportunity it provides for Roxbury Community College," said Dr. Brown. "This funding will allow us to take a holistic view of the institution's education needs, goals, and resources in a strategic

Martin Luther King Day

Each Martin Luther King, Jr. Day (the third Monday in January) the Martin Luther King, Jr. Federal Holiday Commission conducts the "Let Freedom Ring" ceremony at the Liberty Bell site. There, a well-known public figure rings the Bell at 12:00 noon for "Peace; Racial, Ethnic and Religious Harmony; and Nonviolence" in Honor of Dr. King.

Bells around the world, in churches, civic buildings and elsewhere, echo the peal of the Liberty Bell, in a ceremony that calls forth the best qualities in humanity—brotherhood, peace and commitment to the well-being of others.

On the occasion of celebrating Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Day, we ask ourselves "What should we do to celebrate this holiday in a meaningful way?" the following two excerpts are presented to you as food for thought:

"...And when we allow freedom to ring, when we let it ring from every village and every hamlet, from every state and every city, we will be able to speed up that day when all of God's children, black men and white men, Jews and Gentiles, Protestants and Catholics, will be able to join hands and sing

RCC Celebrates the Holidays

What better way to kick off the holiday season than for staff, faculty, administration and students to get together and have a festive party to celebrate. Thanks, in part, to Dr. Brown and her Presidential

Cabinet for supplying the delicious food and drink that helped make this year's party that much better. Food ranging from Baked Virginia Ham to Chinese Spring Rolls was

A day to reaffirm the American ideals of freedom, justice, and opportunity for all.

A day to love not hate, for understanding not anger, for peace not war.

A day for family, to share together, to reach out to relatives and friends, and to mend broken relationships.

A day when community rids itself of the barriers that divide it and comes together as one.

A day when people of all races, religions, classes, and stations in life put aside their differences and join in the spirit of togetherness.

A day for our Nation to pay tribute to Martin Luther King, Jr., who awakened in us the best qualities of the American spirit.

A day for nations of the world to cease all violent actions, seek nonviolent solutions, and demonstrate that peace is not just a dream but a real possibility, if only for one day.

If for only one day, each of us serves as a "drum for justice and peace," then we bring to life the inspiring vision of freedom of which Martin Luther King, Jr., dreamed.

Accreditation

On December 28, 1994, Dr. Sandra Elman, Associate Director of the Commission on Institutions of Higher Education, New England Association of Schools and Colleges, Inc., visited the College and met with President Brown and Ms. Jianping Wang, co-chair of the Self-study Steering Committee. The discussion focused on the first draft of RCC's self-study report submitted to NEASC on December 4, 1994. Dr. Elman complimented the hard work by the steering committee and commented that the draft was "a very good working document." Dr. Elman's specific comments and suggestions were disseminated to the steering committee and sub-committee chairs and will be used as guidelines for revision.

On January 17, 1995, at Spring 1995 Faculty Institute, the entire faculty closely reviewed the draft of the self-study report and provided enormous input.

During the holiday season, several departments, such as the LRC and Student Services, devoted time and energy in reviewing and discussing the draft. These discussions and feedback will definitely enhance the quality of the self-study report.

On January 24, Dr. Rafael L. Cortada, chairperson of the site visit team visited the campus. During his brief visit, he met with students and faculty, the Board of Trustees and the Steering Committee and toured the campuses. Dr. Cortada's visit helped the college in our preparation for the upcoming April site visit.

Acuerdo

The college's participatory governance body—Acuerdo—worked hard and diligently last semester. The major achievement is improved participation. All five assemblies attended all Acuerdo meetings. In addition, Acuerdo reviewed the proposal for improving the current Acuerdo structure and reached a consensus that instead of changing the existing structure, efforts will be directed to improve communication which was identified as a key area of weakness. Specific recommendations were formulated and presented to the President and were approved by the President. These recommendations will be implemented in the Spring semester. With our commitment to participatory governance and improved participation, we expect the new semester to be rewarding and fruitful.

The scheduled Acuerdo meetings for the spring semester are on January 31 ..... 3:00 p.m.

February 21 ... 3:00 p.m.
March 21 ..... 3:00 p.m.
April 21 ..... 3:00 p.m.
May 16 ..... 3:00 p.m.

All meetings will be held in the Academic Affairs Conference Room.

and imaginative way, with enormous gains for both the College and the larger community. Our students will certainly reap the benefits of this grant because it will impact significantly not only their academic careers but also on the quality of their lives."

Founded in 1977, the L.G. Balfour Foundation's mission is to fund projects that remove barriers to education for minorities and disadvantaged youth with an emphasis on creative programs that build self-esteem and prepare students for academic success. "Consideration is given to educational programs that encourage young people to excel in grade school and high school, and to continue on with a post secondary education," said Kerry Sullivan, FIS Director of Grantmaking.

At a press luncheon hosted by Fleet Bank to announce the award, Richard H. Jones, president of Fleet Investment Services stated, "We are pleased to award this grant to Roxbury Community College for its future academic objectives. RCC is a valued educational institution in Boston, and provides a broad range of educational and job-training opportunities to a very diverse student body of approximately 3,000 inner-city residents."

Dr. Brown thanked the president of the RCC Foundation, Leon E. Wilson, for his service to Roxbury Community College and stewardship of the foundation over the past several years. She also thanked Hubie Jones, who represented the RCC Foundation as project advisor for the initiative.

"While as president for the College, it was my job to identify the project objectives for this grant", Dr. Brown continued, "they were developed by a special team of College administrators responsible for student assessment, advising, counseling and placement, student activities, curriculum, and faculty development. The team was led by Dr. Bruce A. Rose, Vice President of Academic and Student Affairs, and included Holly Guran, Director of Counseling and Placement Services, Faye-Sampson-Russell, Assistant Dean of Students, and Colleen Spence, Director of Assessment, Placement and Outcomes. They did a superb job and deserve the thanks of both the president and the trustees of the College for their fine efforts."

Fleet Investment Services manages the L.G. Balfour Foundation's assets and has awarded more than $34 million in foundation grants since its inception.

The Roxbury Community College Foundation was established in 1983 to generate private funds for scholarships, special grants and a permanent endowment for the College. To date, the RCC Foundation has awarded more than $500,000 in scholarships, grants and loans to Roxbury Community College.

as diverse and international as the RCC community itself. Entertainment, coordinated by Dr. Sandra Vaughn, ranged from holiday carols on the steel drums to a ballroom dance. And we must not forget the choir that filled the room with their songs of happy holiday greetings. The old bookstore was more than full throughout the party, with fellow RCC family members joining the festivities throughout the afternoon. A special thanks to Dr. Vaughn for her coordination in making this party more than enjoyable. Hope to see you all at next year's party.

Mortgage Lending Career Development Program

The Career Development in Mortgage Lending Program held their 3rd Annual Graduation on December 13, 1994 at the Omni Parker House in Boston. Graduates received training as loan originators, loan processors or appraisers from skilled volunteer professionals in the fields of banking, real estate, appraisal and law.

The aim of the program is to train minority men and women in the field of Mortgage Lending and place them after their graduation in their communities such as Dorchester, Roxbury and Mattapan in the hope of helping their fellow residents secure mortgages successfully and comfortably. The program offers the graduates a way to give back to their communities and create a better career for themselves at the same time. It also intends to build better communities today for a better tomorrow.

The success of programs such as this has encouraged the development of other community-involved RCC courses linking business and education through hands-on training.

Business and education have built strong ties over the years at Roxbury Community College. Carol Bliss-Furr, Director of Business and Industry and Paul Willenbrock, Dean of Continuing Education are dedicated key players in keeping the Mortgage Lending Program an important part of Roxbury Community College. They are proud to be involved in this year's training and hope to participate in the years to come.

Dual Enrollment Program

The Dual Enrollment Program is a new program that allows high school students to get a head start on college. Currently enrolled Massachusetts public high school juniors and seniors who are in good academic standing at their high schools and/or who have been recommended by high school principals, guidance counselors and/or teachers are eligible for consideration to enroll full time or take individual courses at Massachusetts public institutions of higher education. Students participating in dual enrollment may earn credit that meet requirements for high school graduation and higher education matriculation. Under education reform, the Legislature approved $500,000 to pay for the dual-enrollment program, making Massachusetts unique among states in subsidizing high school students as they attend college. To attend college courses, the high school students must meet the college's entrance requirements and maintain at least a "B" grade in the course. The student must also remain enrolled in high school.

The Boston Business School Campus of Roxbury Community College is pleased to announce that Lisa McAskill, a senior at Brighton High School, has been accepted as a Dual Enrollment student. She will take 12 credits during the

We are hopeful that the number of students in the Dual Enrollment program will increase for the Fall semester as more high school students become aware of this great opportunity.

Honorary Life Directors Recognized By RCC Foundation

The Roxbury Community College Foundation paid tribute to two of its members at a special Board of Directors meeting hosted by Fidelity Investments in Boston on January 5th. Mrs. Ruth M. Batson and Mr. Caleb Loring, Jr., whose commitment to the College and service on the RCC Foundation's board of directors spans more than 15 years, recently assumed the special status of Honorary Life Directors and were presented with a special gift in appreciation for their long-time service to the foundation.

"Ruth Batson's name and her good deeds are well known in this town" said Leon E. Wilson, president of the RCC Foundation, at the meeting. "From her professional work with the Massachusetts Commission against Discrimination, METCO, Boston University's School of Medicine and the Museum of Afro American History to her life's work as a civil rights leader, community activist, philanthropist, and, most importantly in our minds an "Ambassador of Education" Ruth Batson has made her mark on Boston! The Ruth M. Batson Educational Foundation began 25 years ago with a $1,000 gift in appreciation of Ruth's unselfish contribution to the betterment of minority education in Roxbury. Her friend Betty Johnson, a founding trustee of Roxbury Community College, was the first president of the Ruth Batson Memorial Scholarship awarded to every RCC graduate. As the keynote speaker at the GED graduation last June, Ruth charged the graduates to be lifelong "ambassadors of education" by sharing the knowledge and inspiration they gained at RCC with family, friends, co-workers and everyone with whom they come in contact. It's for these and so many other reasons that we have made her an Honorary Life Director of the RCC Foundation."

"And it is fitting that Mrs. Batson share the RCC Foundation's first Honorary Life Directorship with Caleb Loring, Jr.," Mr. Wilson continued, "for his good deeds for Roxbury and its community college complement her own. Caleb is a philanthropist in the truest sense of the word. He has given tirelessly of his time and energy to a wide variety of charitable and non-profit institutions throughout the Boston area, including the Association for Better Housing, Boston Natural Areas Fund, the Museum of Science, the National Conference of Christians and Jews, the Huntington Theater, New England Medical Center, Massachusetts General Hospital and Roxbury's Freedom House. His long and esteemed career with Fidelity Investments has included service as a trustee of the Fidelity Foundation, which provided the RCC Foundation with support for its institutional advancement efforts in 1993-94. Caleb is a quiet cheerleader for the RCC Foundation and the College, and his efforts on our behalf have not skipped a beat in this transition from active to honorary life director."

Batson and Loring were presented with a personally inscribed, framed print by the distinguished Boston artist, Allan Roban Crite, depicting the Roxbury Community College campus and the rich diversity of its students and surrounding community. Mr. Crite produced the work in 1987 in celebration of the College's new (and permanent) Columbus Avenue campus. The artist has lived and worked on Columbus Avenue for more than 70 years and his artwork highlights the African American community in the inner city and changing history of his South End/Roxbury neighborhood.

Wishing You Well!

The RCC community extends a sincere fair-well to Veronica Patterson of the Office of the Vice President for Academic and Student Affairs. Her last day with us was January 27, 1994. We all wish her the best of luck in her relocation to Virginia Beach, VA.

From the Human Resources Office

Roxbury Community College extends an invitation to all full-time 01 employees to join the MBTA Pass Program. Here's how it works: fill out a "New Subscribers's Form" and pick-up your pass at the Human Resources Office. The cost of the pass(es) will be deducted from your monthly paycheck. It takes one full month to process all requests for passes. For example: sign up January, money deducted in February, receive March pass. Passes consist of local bus through Zone 2 and subway and cost from $20.00 to $72.00.

Benefits of being a corporate passholder:

Passholders save time and aggravation, because they do not have to stand in line and fumble for change to buy tokens, or remember to go to one of the ticket agencies and wait in even longer line just to purchase a pass. With unlimited use of a pass, you save money the more you ride the (T), and passholders save up to $75.00 a year on car insurance collision and property damage premiums and are entitled to valuable discounts at cultural attractions, restaurants, and stores (Passholder Discounts for Transit Users information booklets can be obtained from the Human Resources Office).

Additional benefits for state agency employees:

You can purchase two passes per month. If you miss a deadline for changing or canceling your pass, you can take your pass to the Downtown Crossing Subway Station, the last 4 business days of that month or the first 4 business days of the next month and get an upgrade, downgrade or refund.

For further information or to sign up, contact the Human Resources Department at extension 5330.

From the Office of the Vice President of Fiscal & Management Affairs

Effective January 1, 1995, Jimmy Smith, who has been a Computer Services Consultant at Roxbury Community College for three years, has been hired into the position of Acting Director, Management Information Systems and Services. Mr. Smith will play a crucial role in assuring the implementation of the College's Computer Technology Design Master Plan.

Nadine Dowling has been promoted to the position of Associate Vice President, Administrative Services. In addition to continuing in her ongoing role of managing the Boston Business School Campus, Ms. Dowling will have responsibility for the supervision of the Facilities Department, including Auxiliary Services; the Security Office; as well as management of all requests for proposals (RFP) and related contracts for goods and services. Ms. Dowling will not continue her role as Acting Division Chairperson of Business and Technology.

Please join me in supporting both Mr. Smith and Ms. Dowling as they begin their challenging new positions at Roxbury Community College.

RCC 22nd Honors Assembly

This past December, Roxbury Community College held the 22nd Honors Assembly to acknowledge and award those who have achieved academic excellence during the past semester. Scholarships were given to those with the highest grade point average in each area of study throughout the college, thanks to the Roxbury Community College Foundation and their fundraising efforts.

Sylvia A. McDowell, the keynote speaker at the assembly, challenged the RCC students to "rise to the occasion, commit to the challenge, and celebrate the rewards of your hard work." She further encouraged the students to reach out for help, support and guidance.

Regardless of their different backgrounds and experiences, these honor students have beaten the odds and come out on top. It makes all the work we (staff, faculty, and administration) do here seem more than worth it. As a staff member here at RCC, it made me extremely proud to see the award recipients receive their scholarships, their faces beaming with pride and self-respect. On occasions such as these, the RCC community has much to be proud about. Such celebrations make the world not seem like such a bad place with all its troubles and upheaval. Let's keep the light of hope and prosperity flickering throughout the new year.

Congratulations to all!

Office Technology Program

The Job Training Partnership Association of Massachusetts on behalf of the Service Delivery Areas (SDAs) in Massachusetts develops a statewide list of potential providers of qualified programs in various fields. The SDAs were established under the federal Job Training Partnership Act of 1982 to coordinate federal, state, and local resources to prepare economically disadvantaged, long-term unemployed, and dislocated workers to become productive labor force participants.

The Roxbury Community College Office Technology Program was submitted for approval as a qualified educational and training opportunity in November. On December 21, 1994, Roxbury Community College was notified by Ms. Judy Selesnick, Director of the Job Training Partnership Association of Massachusetts, that the Office Technology Program had been reviewed and was accepted as a "qualified" program.

A statewide list of all qualified programs will be disseminated to all sixteen Service Delivery Areas (SDAs) and many Worker Assistance Centers (WACs) throughout the state.

We are hopeful that this action will increase student enrollment in this program and also help the program participants find employment in the office technology field.

Thank You

On December 22, 1994, RCC sponsored an event that allowed over 150 foster children to celebrate the holidays. The following is the letter Dr. Brown received from the Department of Social Services-Fields Corner Office.

Dear Dr. Brown,

On behalf of the foster children, foster children's party committee, social workers, administrators, and staff at the Department of Social Services-Fields Corner Office, please accept our gratitude and appreciation for your participation in this year's Foster Children's Christmas Party.

This event was a HUGE success due to the generosity, compassion, and spirit by special individuals at Roxbury Community College during this holiday season.

Without you, this year's event would not have been possible. Your facility and the time efforts of the President's Hostess Club, allowed over 150 foster children the opportunity to celebrate the holiday season in grand style.

May the new year bring your much joy and happiness.
